The file dialog will open. Find your file, click on it, and then click Open.

Once the dialog box vanishes, click Upload PDF.

The words Processing Invoice will appear. This process may take a few minutes. Don't navigate to another page while the invoice is uploading.

When the invoice is done processing, the words "Invoice processed successfully" will appear in the uploader box, and the invoice itself will load with editable fields. Make sure to scroll down.

Now you can correct incorrect fields. Low confidence scores and red validation failure messages are signals to draw your attention to fields that are especially likely to be wrong. When you're done, click Submit.

The paper invoice is now stored in your Processed folder, at {YOURNAME}/invoice-syst/invoice_extraction/processed. For example, if your name is Julie and you are using a Windows computer, the invoice is at C:/Users/Julie/invoice-syst/invoice_extraction/processed.

There will also be a JSON, or plain text, report of the contents of the invoice. Any invoices that failed will be in the errors folder.

Line Items

You won't get confidence intervals on an old invoice, since it isn't being re-read by the system. If you make changes that fail the validation rules, though, the validation messages will reappear.

Printing a Report

To print a log of all the invoices and the changes made to them, click the Download Report button at the top of the Invoices list.

The report will download in your invoice_extraction folder. So, if your name is Julie and you're a Windows user, the report will be in C:/Users/Julie/invoice-syst/invoice_extraction.

Troubleshooting

If you see the message “Unable to process invoice,” you may be using a corrupted file, or you may have already uploaded the invoice.
